The Story of the Bow Porcelain Manufactory

woven together from

Primary Evidence

to form a narrative of this famous 18th Century English Porcelain Works

Much has been written about the development of this most famous of early English porcelain manufactories underlining its interest to collectors and ceramic historians alike

This narrative brings together not only information from earlier researchers and well known archived material, but also focuses on original primary evidence some of which has not previously been published, and puts this into context with recent chemical analysis to set the scene this is preceded by a résumé of the attempts to manufacture

'China Ware'
in England from the early 17th century

A5 Hard Back book with 100 Pages, including images and maps, all the primary references having been examined and transcribed to form the basis of the text wherever possible
