Upstairs Downstairs Ceramics at every level

This conference will discuss ceramics made for many levels of society. Our distinguished slate of speakers will cover a wide range of topics, from the 17th century soil pits of Chester Rows to the 20th century display cabinets of royal and noble castles and palaces.

The residential cost of Summer School is £399. This includes three nights accommodation, meals, wine reception, refreshments, and conference sessions.

A non-residential package is available at £330 and includes the wine reception, refreshments during the day, lunches and evening meals.

Reserve your place with a £50 deposit

Balance of payment due by 15 July, 2019

The programme includes 10 lectures and an afternoon visit to the Williamson Art Gallery to view the new displays of ceramics. There will be an evening book sale—you may bring books to sell. Members are encouraged to socialize in the evenings but if you bring pottery to show and discuss, please note this is at your own risk. The NCS is not able to cover for loss or damage.

Bursaries are available to anyone (NCS members and non-members) who feels they would benefit from the opportunity to attend. The bursaries cover conference sessions, meals and accommodation but not travel to Chester. Please send application to Pat Halfpenny at the address listed on the registration form or use the contact form on the NCS website.
